

Heyburn Urges Full Freedom In U.S. At Annual Lincoln Dinner; Says Nation Faces Great Crisis

Two hundred and eight members of the Adams County Republican committee and their guests attended the annual Lincoln Day dinner Monday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg, and heard Weldon B. Heyburn, state auditor general declare that before the United States can carry freedom to the rest of the world it must put its own house in order.

Paying tribute to Lincoln and to Gettysburg, where the martyred president delivered his world-famous Gettysburg Address, Mr. Heyburn said that a situation exists in the world today which is almost comparable to the situation which existed in the United States at the time that Lincoln became president, the question of freedom versus slavery.

Similar Situations

The speaker quoted Lincoln's address before the Republican state convention at Springfield, Ill., on June 16, 1858, in which he said: "I believe this government cannot endure permanently half slave and half free."

"I am of the opinion," Mr. Heyburn continued, "that the scope of those words can be enlarged to express the situation which exists in the world today by saying that we believe this world cannot endure permanently half slave and half free."

"We, the citizens of 1950, are in the midst of the greatest crisis of all world history. We live in that half of the world which is still free. The eastern hemisphere is that half of the world which is slave."

CRASH VICTIM IS IMPROVED

Miss Caroline Bankert, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bankert, of Westminster, was seriously injured early Saturday when a car in which she was a passenger tore through a guard rail and clipped a pole on the Westminster-Taneytown road.

Miss Bankert is in the Warner hospital suffering from a fractured skull and a punctured lung on the left side caused by a broken rib, according to Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, hospital surgeon. Today she was reported much improved.

She is the daughter of the steward at the Carroll county home and a secretary to David H. Taylor, Westminster attorney.

Miss Bankert was a passenger in the car driven by Robert Thomas Iardell, Baltimore. He was held in the Emmitsburg jail under $1,000 bail on charges of operating while intoxicated and reckless driving following the accident.

Troopers Kenneth Bond and J. S. Poteet filed the charges. They said that Iardell's car failed to negotiate a curve near Bridgeport. They were helped from the wreckage by residents of that area and Miss Bankert was removed to the hospital in the Taneytown ambulance.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Miss Janet Musselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Musselman, Main street, Fairfield, was among those named on the dean's list at Hood college, Frederick. The list is composed of students who have attained an average of B for the first semester. She is a senior and a graduate of the Fairfield high school.

Extinguish Chimney Blaze Monday Night

Firemen were called at 9:30 o'clock Monday night to extinguish a chimney fire in the former Citizen's Trust Company building on Baltimore street. Chemicals were used. Firemen said there was no damage. Smoke pouring over the roof of the Minter building on the corner of Baltimore and East Middle streets led to the belief at first that this building was on fire. Every piece of fire-fighting equipment was taken from the engine house, and firemen were ready to raise the aerial ladder, but it was not needed.

'BUY AT HOME' IS RECOMMENDED IN ROTARY TALK

Both farmers and merchants were urged to "trade at home" by Dr. Kenneth Hood, State College, extension agricultural economist, in a talk given Monday evening at the annual Rural-Urban meeting of the local Rotary club at the YWCA.

"It is an economic as well as a cultural necessity that we realize that a community is composed of everyone who trades there," he added. "The merchant should see to it that the farmer has a place to park in his community, that the hours his store is open are convenient to the farmer and in addition there should be a spirit of cooperation between the farmer and the businessman."

"This pays off in integrating the community and the countryside that actually makes up the town. Farmers at one time were almost self-sufficient but now that farming has become America's greatest industry they have become the merchants' greatest single group of customers. We could possibly help bring down prices all around by buying at home. It seems rather uneconomical for residents of Gettysburg to buy apples from Washington, potatoes from Maine, and other foods from all over the country, when they could be bought in the countryside about the town and the shipping charges saved. At the same time it seems uneconomical for the farmer to buy from Chicago or New York what he could obtain in Gettysburg. There are things that are not ob-

News Collected At Random.

The death of Margaret Smiley, suddenly and without warning Sunday afternoon, was as great a shock to the community as it was to every employee of The Gettysburg Times. It was generally believed that Miss Margaret was improving and would soon resume her position at the linotype keyboard. Her presence at the huge Model 8 mechanical typesetter was as familiar and pleasant a reminder of loyalty as this newspaper ever hopes to have.

There are many at The Times who have known and worked with Miss Margaret for more than a quarter of a century. Others have enjoyed this relationship and association for fewer years but their respect and admiration for her is as sincere and warm as ours who have been favored with a longer friendship.

Miss Margaret was a Christian woman. She lived a clean, Christian life. She was highly respected in her church and in the entire community. She was loyal and unselfish; considerate and charitable in her every thought and action. Her pleasing personality reflected her cheerful thoughts. She gave of herself in many endeavors and asked naught in return. Hers was a life of giving and doing.

There are many of us who will not soon forget Miss Margaret.

Burgess William G. Weaver was one of the first persons to voluntarily endorse and express hearty approval of The Gettysburg Times' decision to refer to Center square as LINCOLN SQUARE.

KEEFAUER TO BE RE-ELECTED SUPERINTENDENT

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver will be re-elected in April as superintendent of the Gettysburg public schools for another four-year term.

That was made certain Monday evening at the regular meeting of the executive committee of the Gettysburg joint board when no announcement was made of any other applications for the post. Secretary Paul M. Rohrbaugh explained that if there is to be any contest for the post of district superintendent, the current superintendent must be given 60 days notice.

Board members said that the election continuing Doctor Keefauver for another term in the post he has held since 1926 will be a mere formality in April.

Reports presented at Monday's meeting at the high school included one showing that Gettysburg now stands fourth among third class districts in the state in regard to the number of its teachers holding college certificates. The other districts (Please Turn to Page 2)

Lions Club And Lincoln Dinner Guests Favor LINCOLN SQUARE

"The Adams County Republican committee at its annual Lincoln Day dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday night, unanimously, by a rising vote, endorsed the decision of The Gettysburg Times to henceforth designate "Center square" in Gettysburg as LINCOLN SQUARE, and to erect a Lincoln statue there.

"It is fitting for us, assembled here to honor Abraham Lincoln, to urge that the name of our public square be named for him who made the names of Lincoln and Gettysburg synonymous throughout the world," Chairman John H. Basehore, who presented the proposal, said.

The motion to endorse the renaming of the square was made by Mrs. Sarah Gideon.

The Gettysburg Lions club by a unanimous vote of its membership Monday evening went on record as favoring the re-naming of Center square here as LINCOLN SQUARE.

The proposal was brought before the club by Dr. L. C. Keefauver who suggested that it would be fitting for the club to voice its approval of the new designation for Center square. "This move may be a first step toward the placing of some suitable Lincoln memorial statue in our town square," he said.

There was a quick motion to place the local service club on record as endorsing the LINCOLN SQUARE project and the motion passed without a dissenting vote.

DECLARES DIAL SYSTEM HERE IS IN FAR FUTURE

B. M. Witmer, Harrisburg, general commercial manager of the United Telephone company, told the local Chamber of Commerce directors Monday evening that the town will in all probability be converted to the dial phone system at some later date, but added that the changeover is still a long way in the future.

"The reason is simply this," he said. "Since the end of the war we have been swamped with requests for new telephone service. Where we could we felt it better to extend the service to as many people as possible, rather than immediately change over to dial."

"Here in Gettysburg we have the space to expand our switchboard facilities and continue to add new customers for some time to come." As a result we thought it better to use the employees available, the material that could be secured, and the time available, to provide more people with the service they want rather than spend all our effort in improving the service to those who already had a telephone. Where the current equipment was so overloaded that something had to be done, as in Hanover, we made the changeover to dial because we had to find new quarters and put in a new central plant anyway."

Increase In Subscribers

Noting that in Gettysburg the number of telephones increased from 2,251 at the end of the war to 3,119 as of January 1 this year, Witmer added, "Such a growth could not have been accomplished if we had gone all-out for dial. Some companies did and as a result they have not been able to install the new phones requested. In the United system we preferred to give new service rather than put in dial systems immediately and as a result the number of telephones has increased since the end of the war from 33,949 to 53,099."

Despite strenuous efforts to fill the requests Gettysburg still has 154 applications for telephones to be filled, Witmer said. In addition, he added, there are 62 Gettysburg residents who have requested one-party service and 60 residents who are asking for a change in the type of telephone they have in their homes.

Estimates Were Wrong

The tremendous demand for new telephone service at the end of the war came as a surprise to the telephone company.

"The Adams County Republican committee at its annual Lincoln Day dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday night, unanimously, by a rising vote, endorsed the decision of The Gettysburg Times to henceforth designate "Center square" in Gettysburg as LINCOLN SQUARE, and to erect a Lincoln statue there.

"It is fitting for us, assembled here to honor Abraham Lincoln, to urge that the name of our public square be named for him who made the names of Lincoln and Gettysburg synonymous throughout the world," Chairman John H. Basehore, who presented the proposal, said.

The motion to endorse the renaming of the square was made by Mrs. Sarah Gideon.

The Gettysburg Lions club by a unanimous vote of its membership Monday evening went on record as favoring the re-naming of Center square here as LINCOLN SQUARE.

DECLARES DIAL SYSTEM HERE IS IN FAR FUTURE

B. M. Witmer, Harrisburg, general commercial manager of the United Telephone company, told the local Chamber of Commerce directors Monday evening that the town will in all probability be converted to the dial phone system at some later date, but added that the changeover is still a long way in the future.

"The reason is simply this," he said. "Since the end of the war we have been swamped with requests for new telephone service. Where we could we felt it better to extend the service to as many people as possible, rather than immediately change over to dial."

"Here in Gettysburg we have the space to expand our switchboard facilities and continue to add new customers for some time to come." As a result we thought it better to use the employees available, the material that could be secured, and the time available, to provide more people with the service they want, rather than spend all our effort in improving the service to those who already had a telephone. Where the current equipment was so overloaded that something had to be done, as in Hanover, we made the changeover to dial because we had to find new quarters and put in a new central plant anyway."

Increase In Subscribers

Noting that in Gettysburg the number of telephones increased from 2,251 at the end of the war to 3,119 as of January 1 this year, Witmer added, "Such a growth could not have been accomplished if we had gone all-out for dial. Some companies did and as a result they have not been able to install the new phones requested. In the United system we preferred to give new service rather than put in dial systems immediately and as a result the number of telephones has increased since the end of the war from 33,949 to 53,099."

Despite strenuous efforts to fill the requests Gettysburg still has 154 applications for telephones to be filled, Witmer said. In addition, he added, there are 62 Gettysburg residents who have requested one-party service and 60 residents who are asking for a change in the type of telephone they have in their homes.

Estimates Were Wrong

The tremendous demand for new telephone service at the end of the war came as a surprise to the telephone company.

BIBLE SOCIETY FURNISHED 229 GOSPEL BOOKS

J. Bowman, Epley apartments, Chambersburg street, Monday afternoon. The cost was $10.15.

Mrs. Cora Berkey, president of the society, presided at the meeting and conducted the devotional service. Mrs. Bowman read the prayer. Mrs. J. Kerr Lott, secretary, read the minutes and Mrs. Bowman, treasurer, reported $217.18 received since December 1. This includes a balance from the preceding year, and plate offerings and individual gifts from the Church of the Brethren, Christ Lutheran church, St. James church, and the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

Minute Book Found

The treasurer was directed to send $175 to the Atlantic division of the American Bible society, Philadelphia. The balance of the fund will be used to furnish Bibles and pamphlets to individuals, societies and institutions, as needed.

Mrs. Berkey reported that the first minute book of the society, lost for many years, has been found, and the complete minutes of the 104-year-old society are in its possession. The society was organized in 1846.

The secretary was ordered to send a "cheer" letter to Miss Margaret E. Myers, vice president, who was unable to be present because of illness. The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

KEEFAUVER TO

ahead of Gettysburg are Mr. Lebanon, Indiana and Brentwood. Jointure Pays Off
In discussing the current reimbursement fraction for Gettysburg joint school system, Doctor Kee-fauver noted that the joint district has gained $25,974 in reimbursement from the state this year as a result of its being in a joint organization. If the districts had been operating independently they would receive $25,974 less than the amount they will be granted.

He noted, however, that the changes brought about by the tax equalization board survey of the district to determine actual value of property as compared to assessed value will cause a reduction in the transportation reimbursement of $3,229.20, or a drop from $21,092.67 to $17,863.47.

Various financial reports were presented at the executive meeting. Total receipts of the joint district during the past month were $67,498.23 including a balance of $31,792.33 from the previous month and tuition income of $34,158.43.

Reports Are Given
Expenditures totaled $22,994.51 including $873.26 for general control; $18,076.86 instructional costs; $683.96 auxiliary agencies; $1,312.92 operation of plant; $1,719.51 maintenance of plant and $328 fixed charges, leaving a balance as of February 1 of $44,503.72.

The cafeteria report showed expenses of $804.66 including $640.70 for provisions and $154.31 for salaries and services.

Total income of the athletic fund during the past month, according to the report of Fred G. Troxell, was $1,571.18, including a balance of $846.08 and door receipts of $725.10. Expenditures during the month totaled $552.14 leaving a balance of $1,019.04.

The activities fund report made by Robert C. Diehl showed a January balance of $7,253.51, deposits of $2,780.79 during the month and withdrawals of $2,897.18, leaving a balance on February 1 of $7,137.22. The activities fund covers all activities in the Gettysburg schools in which funds are handled including sale of magazines, publications and the athletic fund.

On Saturday Franklin county commissioners forwarded requests for potatoes for the county jail, county home, children's home, Milton Wright Memorial Home, Chambersburg hospital and Waynesboro hospital. Jointure Pays Off

In discussing the current reimbursement fraction for Gettysburg joint school system, Doctor Kee-fauver noted that the joint district has gained $25,974 in reimbursement from the state this year as a result of its being in a joint organization. If the districts had been operating independently they would receive $25,974 less than the amount they will be granted.

He noted, however, that the changes brought about by the tax equalization board survey of the district to determine actual value of property as compared to assessed value will cause a reduction in the transportation reimbursement of $3,229.20, or a drop from $21,092.67 to $17,863.47.

Various financial reports were presented at the executive meeting. Total receipts of the joint district during the past month were $67,498.23 including a balance of $31,792.33 from the previous month and tuition income of $34,158.43.

Reports Are Given

Expenditures totalled $22,994.51 including $873.26 for general control; $18,076.86 instructional costs; $683.96 auxiliary agencies; $1,312.92 operation of plant; $1,719.51 maintenance of plant and $328 fixed charges, leaving a balance as of February 1 of $44,503.72.

The cafeteria report showed expenses of $804.66 including $640.70 for provisions and $164.31 for salaries and services.

Total income of the athletic fund during the past month, according to the report of Fred G. Troxell, was $1,571.18, including a balance of $846.08 and door receipts of $725.10. Expenditures during the month totalled $552.14 leaving a balance of $1,019.04.

The activities fund report made by Robert C. Diehl showed a January balance of $7,253.51, deposits of $2,780.79 during the month and withdrawals of $2,897.18, leaving a balance on February 1 of $7,137.22. The activities fund covers all activities in the Gettysburg schools in which funds are handled including sale of magazines, publications and the athletic fund.

Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham, president of the joint board, presided at the meeting.

5 UNIVERSITIES AFFIRM FAITH IN SANITY CODE

New York, Feb. 14 (AP) — Five famous eastern universities—Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Pennsylvania, and Columbia—affirmed their faith today in the N.C.A.A.'s "sanity code."

Said Crayon Kirk, provost of Columbia, "we feel quite strongly that the unchecked subsidization of intercollegiate athletics could result in the complete commercialization of any sports where income is involved, such as football and basketball."

The N.C.A.A.'s "sanity code" and subsidization generally have become prime problems in college ranks this winter.

Asked Four Questions

The five big eastern schools along with 21 other institutions across the country were asked four questions in an Associated Press survey, as follows:

"1.—Does your university subsidize athletics, and if so to what extent in what sports?"

"2.—Do your alumni subsidize athletics privately and if so is this with or without the knowledge of the university?"

"3.—If subsidization, either open or sub rosa, continues unchecked, what future do you predict for American college sports?"

"4.—Do you subscribe to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code'?"

Cornell Led Unit

Of the five universities, Cornell and Pennsylvania have been the most successful in football in recent years, last year's Cornell team winning eight against one defeat, while Pennsylvania won four and lost four.

At the other extreme, Harvard won only one and lost eight and Columbia won two and lost seven. Yale won four and lost four.

Said Harold E. Stassen, president of Pennsylvania: "The University of Pennsylvania subscribes to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code' and has signed this agreement. The University of Pennsylvania is abiding by that code and proposes to continue to support it."

C. W. Kliever, acting president of Cornell, answered questions one and two with a flat "no" and number four with "yes."

Dr. Charles Seymour, president of Yale, wrote: "Yale does not 'subsidize' athletics as athletes. We grant scholarships for reasons of scholarship and personal quality to our students, including athletes. But in the award of such scholarships on distinction is made between those who are participating and those who are not participating in intercollegiate sports."

William M. Pinkerton, director of the news office at Harvard, declared "Harvard does not subsidize athletes" and "Harvard does subscribe to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code.'" He added that Harvard's football policy was under study and as a result the officials of the university did not wish to comment further.

Dr. Kirk at Columbia declared: "For question one, our answer is a clear and unequivocal no. For question two, concerning alumni subsidizing of athletics, our answer is that this is not done at Columbia to our knowledge. Concerning question three, as to the effects of open or sub rosa subsidizing, we feel quite strongly that the unchecked subsidization of intercollegiate athletics could result in the complete commercialization of any sports where income is involved."

NEW FOUL RULE TO BE DISCARDED

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—Basketball's controversial "three-minute foul rule" is almost certain to be tossed out by Pennsylvania high schools next year.

"It's a bad rule and has been unpopular all over the state," said Edmund Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Wicht said, however, that the disputed regulation would be used in next month's PIAA playoffs for the state championship. "It's too late in the season to change," he commented.

The rule, which became effective this season, gives a free throw and possession of the ball out of bounds to the team whose player is fouled during the last three minutes of a game.

The prime object of the new rule was to cut down on the number of fouls in the dying moments of the game. However, many coaches maintain it guarantees a victory for the leading team going into the last three minutes.

A survey of 100 of the state's leading scholastic coaches polled by the Corry Journal, showed the cage mentors to be against the ruling by a two to one margin.

Biglerville high school's girls copped the championship of the Adams County Girls' League Monday evening although being idle.

That resulted when East Berlin pulled a surprise by noosing York Springs 31-30 Monday evening at East Berlin to eliminate York Springs, the lone team with having a chance of tying the unbeaten Cannons.

East Berlin's victory was its first of the campaign and halted an eight-game losing streak. The victors led 20-14 at half time, fell behind 26-22 at the third period but spurted to win in the final frame. Scoring was well balanced for the winners while Lory netted 17 for York Springs.

The East Berlin Jayvees took a low scoring game 19-6.

Littlestown moved into second place, deadlocked with New Oxford, by trouncing Boiling Springs at Littlestown 36-22. The Thunderbolts, paced by Yealy, Warner and Plunkert, led by a safe margin all the way.

In the preliminary game the Littlestown reserves triumphed 28-25. New Oxford swept a pair from Newville at New Oxford, the varsity winning 40-27 and the reserves 25-21.

5 UNIVERSITIES AFFIRM FAITH IN SANITY CODE

New York, Feb. 14 (AP) — Five famous eastern universities—Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Pennsylvania, and Columbia—affirmed their faith today in the N.C.A.A.'s "sanity code."

Said Graydon Kirk, provost of Columbia, "we feel quite strongly that the unchecked subsidization of intercollegiate athletics could result in the complete commercialization of any sports where income is involved, such as football and basketball."

The N.C.A.A.'s "sanity code" and subsidization generally have become prime problems in college ranks this winter.

Asked Four Questions

The five big eastern schools along with 21 other institutions across the country were asked four questions in an Associated Press survey, as follows:

"1—Does your university subsidize athletics, and if so to what extent in what sports?"

"2—Do you alumni subsidize athletics privately and if so is this with or without the knowledge of the university?"

"3—If subsidization, either open or sub rosa, continues unchecked what future do you predict for American college sports?"

"4—Do you subscribe to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code'?"

Cornell Led Unit

Of the five universities, Cornell and Pennsylvania have been the most successful in football in recent years, last year's Cornell team winning eight against one defeat, while Pennsylvania won four and lost four.

At the other extreme, Harvard won only one and lost eight and Columbia won two and lost seven.

Said Harold E. Stassen, president of Pennsylvania: "The University of Pennsylvania subscribes to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code' and has signed this agreement. The University of Pennsylvania is abiding by that code and proposes to continue to support it."

C. W. Kiewit, acting president of Cornell, answered questions one and two with a flat "no" and number four with "yes."

Dr. Charles Seymour, president of Yale, wrote: "Yale does not 'subsidize' athletics as athletes. We grant scholarships for reasons of scholastic and personal quality to our students, including athletes. But in the award of such scholarships on distinction is made between those who are participating and those who are not participating in intercollegiate sports."

William M. Pinkerton, director of the news office at Harvard, declared "Harvard does not subsidize athletics" and "Harvard does subscribe to the N.C.A.A. 'sanity code'." He added that Harvard's football policy was under study and as a result the officials of the university did not wish to comment further.

Dr. Kirk at Columbia declared: "For question one, our answer is a clear and unequivocal no. For question two, concerning alumni subsidizing of athletics, our answer is that this is not done at Columbia to our knowledge. Concerning question three, as to the effects of open or sub rosa subsidizing, we feel quite strongly that the unchecked subsidization of intercollegiate athletics could result in the complete commercialization of any sports where income is involved."

NEW FOUL RULE TO BE DISCARDED

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—Basketball's controversial "three-minute foul rule" is almost certain to be tossed out by Pennsylvania high schools next year.

"It's a bad rule and has been unpopular all over the state," said Edmund Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Wicht said, however, that the disputed regulation would be used in next month's PIAA playoffs for the state championship. "It's too late in the season to change," he commented.

The rule, which became effective this season, gives a free throw and possession of the ball out of bounds to the team whose player is fouled during the last three minutes of a game.

The prime object of the new rule was to cut down on the number of fouls in the dying moments of the game. However, many coaches maintain it guarantees a victory for the leading team going into the last three minutes.

A survey of 100 of the state's leading scholastic coaches polled by the Corry Journal, showed the cage mentors to be against the ruling by a two to one margin.

Biglerville high school's girls copped the championship of the Adams County Girls' League Monday evening although being idle.

That resulted when East Berlin pulled a surprise by nosing out York Springs 31-30 Monday evening at East Berlin to eliminate York Springs, the lone team with having a chance of tying the unbeaten Cannons.

East Berlin's victory was its first of the campaign and halted an eight-game losing streak. The victors led 20-14 at half time, fell behind 26-22 at the third period but spurred to win in the final frame. Scoring was well balanced for the winners while Lory netted 17 for York Springs.

The East Berlin jayvees took a low scoring game 19-6.

Littlestown moved into second place, deadlocked with New Oxford, by trouncing Boiling Springs at Littlestown 36-22. The Thunderbolts, paced by Yealy, Warner and Plunkert, led by a safe margin all the way.

In the preliminary game the Littlestown reserves triumphed 28-25.

New Oxford swept a pair from Newville at New Oxford, the varsity winning 40-27 and the reserves 25-21.

Mechanicsburg Faces Warriors Tonight

Second place in the South Penn league will be at stake tonight when the Mechanicsburg and Gettysburg high cagers tangle on the Warriors' floor.

Both teams have records of three wins and one loss in the second half race and the loser tonight will be practically eliminated from title consideration.

The reserve teams will clash at 6:45 o'clock.

Between halves of the varsity game two teams from grades 5 and 6 will stage a 10-minute exhibition game under the sponsorship of the Recreation association in cooperation with high school officials. The squads will be as follows: Maroons—Rolf Johnson, captain, Donald Gigous, Ronald Gigous, John Washington, Joe Tonsel, Ronald Fridinger, Fred Furney, Richard Hemler; Whites—Merle Gorman, captain, Hugh McIlhenny, Perry Pennington, Del Weimer, Gerry Wentz, Roland Shriver, Jim Gilbert and Don Smith.

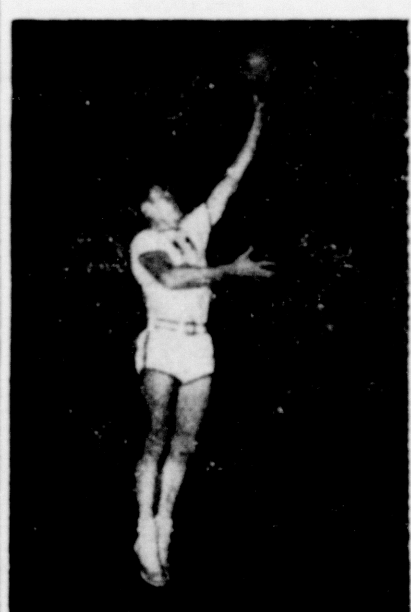

Officials will be: Referees, Ken Fair and Charles Kitzmiller; scorer, Bob Kenworthy; timer, Ken Cole; announcers, Arthur Aikin and John Raffensperger, and coaches George Fair and George Gorman.

COLLEGE QUINT TO MEET NAVY

Following triumphs over Dickinson and Penn State, the vastly improved Gettysburg college basketballers have high hopes of springing an upset Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. when Navy will be met at Annapolis.

Navy disposed of Penn State 46-40 last Saturday afternoon which indicates the Bullets will have to continue their recent fine play to gain victory. Tickets for the game are available at the college athletic office at 50c each.

Bucky Harris, leading scorer for Gettysburg, was well bottled up by the Lions Friday night but hopes.

to get going again this week. His hand-offs and scoring assists were a big factor in the upset triumph over the Lions.

Wednesday's tilt is the first of two very difficult assignments for the Bullets this week. On Saturday the Bream-men will be host to powerful Georgetown university, the game starting at 8 o'clock. No preliminary game will be played.

The college freshmen also have two games this week. While the varsity clashes with Navy the yearlings will tangle with the pebbles. On Friday a return game will be played with Stevens Trade at Lancaster.

Bradley Narrows Holy Cross Lead

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—The team Adolph Rupp picked as the best in the nation—Bradley University—may yet justify the Kentucky Baron's faith.

The Bradley Braves, gaining momentum, are applying the screws to Holy Cross' rating as the No. 1 basketball power in the nation.

While Holy Cross today was voted the top position in the Associated Press poll for a fifth straight week, its margin has shrunk to a mere 37 points over the rampaging Braves from Peoria, Ill.

Wins First Round In School Board Battle

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Former State Senator Joseph P. Dando has won the first round of his court battle to be seated as a member of the Branch township school board.

The Schuylkill county court yesterday ruled the township school board has no power to question Dando's certificate of election.

The board had denied Dando his seat at its December meeting on the grounds the state constitution holds that anybody convicted of a crime cannot hold a public office. Dando was convicted of using WPA labor to repair a swimming pool on his property.

"The title to public office is a public question which ordinarily can be raised only by the attorney general or the district attorney," Judge Vincent J. Dalton ruled.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE BILATERAL MIND

None of us sees anything exactly alike. We often call the attention of others to something that has deeply impressed us, only to be apparently rewarded with annoyance or lack of any interest whatsoever. How are we to know, however? It may be that we are the least appreciative!

We need to have a bilateral mind that will give us both sides of a question, as well as both sides of an opinion. The process that leads to a definite statement is often a long and tortuous one; therefore deserving consideration, not immediate dismissal.

In a democracy, like the United States, I believe that the two-party system is the best, so long as each party works for the over-all good of all the people. It doesn't always work out as cheerfully as this, however. There is too much partisanship, too much power politics, where one party rules too much or too often. Genuine cooperation is needed. It hurts one party to see the other one get credit for a good deed. As though glory could not be divided!

Often, when we read something by a person, we immediately form an opinion. But later, when we have had the opportunity to meet that one, we form a different opinion. How elastic our minds should be, so as to take in all truth and fact, and not just accept our own, or someone else's snap judgment. A bilateral mind should work out very well during these confusing and mystifying times.

The story of "The Prodigal Son," as told in the Bible, is an appealing one. It interested me so much that I have over the years collected a half dozen or more interpretations of the story by various artists, all of course different, but all interesting. Each tells its own story as the artist imagined it. There could easily be scores of interpretations.

The closed mind is a tragic spectacle. It lets in no light, finally resulting in nothing more than a box of dead ideas. The open mind and the bilateral mind, is the free, searching mind, seeking right solutions that will give the largest amount of good and happiness to the many.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Happiest Work."

Loved to hear the door bell ring: Pleased to see their friends come in. Liked to sit and hear them sing. Never seemed to mind the din. Used to say: "I want them near. Grown-ups and the children small. If they were not happy here, Home would not be home at all."

Bothered by the noise they make? "Yes," I answer, "now and then. But, as soon as rest I take I shall want the noise again. As their mother used to say: (Truth now sadly I recall) 'Silent, empty, night and day Home would not be home at all!'"

HOUSE SEEKS TO CURB ABUSES IN GI TRAINING

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—House members looked today for ways to curb abuses in the GI vocational training program without depriving veterans of the chance to gain useful training.

But the big question in the minds of lawmakers was how far Congress should go in check-reining the educational rights guaranteed veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (the GI bill).

Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) summed up this way:

"The basic question is simply this: Is the GI bill a readjustment act or a bonus act?"

Rep. Teague (D-Texas), like Wheeler a member of the House veterans committee, said he was concerned that Congress would go too far.

Fear Old Regulation

"What we're afraid of is the Veterans' Administration will put back into effect regulations it once had and which endangered the entitlement of veterans to their four educational opportunities guaranteed by law," he told a reporter.

Dodged yesterday by President Truman to tighten up the law on "blind alley" vocational training, the House is expected to consider some form of curbs within a week or two.

Differences of opinion over their extent, however, were likely to start a hot dispute.

Wheeler said he has already prepared proposals for making restrictions more stringent, and added that if debate shows a need for further study he would vote to send the entire matter back to committee.

Wheeler said he would offer his proposals as a substitute for the Senate-passed Taft bill when it comes to the House floor.

The Taft bill—among other things—would in effect prohibit the Veterans' Administration from issuing regulations which might deny veterans the right to select a course of study at any approved institution.

Cleared By Committee

This bill, tightened up somewhat by the House veterans committee, has been cleared by the rules committee for House consideration.

President Truman yesterday sent to Congress a report by Frank Pace, director of the budget, and Carl Gray, VA administrator, listing abuses by trade schools springing up since enactment of the GI bill in 1944.

The report said the "startling growth" in these schools has forced an increase in estimates of the cost of the GI program, from $1,992,000,000 in January 1949, to a present figure of $2,754,000,000.

DINER IS ROBBED

Hamburg, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Three men held up a diner along Route 22 within a block of the Hamburg substation of the state police, and escaped on Sunday with $70 after ripping a telephone off the wall. Two diner employees were locked in an outside storeroom as the trio emptied the cash register. One of the bandits was armed, state police were told.

Bangkok, Thailand (Siam), Feb. 14 (AP)—Solemn American diplomats today began discussing means of saving southeast Asia from Communism amid reports from pessimistic Americans here who say already it is too late.

There will be no indication until a partial agenda is announced tonight whether this basic problem was discussed first among the many facing conferees.

Facts About '49 Income Tax Reports

NO. 1—INCOME TAX DEADLINE: MARCH 15

(Editor's Note: This is the first of 12 stories explaining who must do what and how about his 1949 income tax return.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—Midnight of March 15 is the deadline for setting up on your 1949 income tax.

If your 1949 income was $600 or more, you must file a return, whether or not you owe any tax. If you owe any, you must pay it in full.

This applies to every man, woman and child, married or single, who had $600 or more income in 1949.

Blanks Sent Out

Under $600 income is free of tax. If your less-than-$600 income in 1949 had some tax withheld from it, the government will return it—but only if you file a return. It's the only way you can get a refund.

The internal revenue collector has sent most people income tax blanks. If you don't have yours, you can get it at the nearest collector's office or at most banks' and postoffices.

A number of points will be explained separately and in detail in the other 11 stories of this series, such as:

Who uses what form for filing his return; the problem of husband-wife filing and their filing of joint returns; exemptions; deductions; dependents; and how to fill out various forms.

These Are Highlights

Keep these highlights in mind:

In every case where the wife has no income, a couple can't lose money by filing a joint return. Joint returns will save money even in most cases where husband and wife both had income.

That's because under present law husbands and wives are allowed to split their income, each claiming half, thus throwing each half into a lower bracket and making the total tax less.

Watch your exemptions. Each exemption you can rightfully claim means $600 chopped off your income before what's left of it can be taxed.

$600 Exemption

Each person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for each dependent, and $600 for his wife if she had no income or files jointly with him. If she had income and files a return separately, she claims her own $600 exemption.

In addition to the usual $600 exemption he gets for himself, anyone filing a return also gets an additional $600 off if he's blind, and another $600 off if he's 65 or older. He gets the same extra $600 exemptions for his wife if she's blind or 65. But he does not get these extra exemptions for a dependent.

And—watch your deductions as a way of reducing your tax.

To cut down the length of these stories, repetition will be avoided where possible. So it is suggested you clip each story of this series as it appears, for ready reference on a point that may be mentioned briefly in one story but explained more fully in another.

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson said today the United States is ready "at any time to sit down and talk" with Russia on the control of atomic energy.

Hickerson made this response to a charge by Russia's Jacob A. Malik that the United States and other Western powers are responsible for the Soviet walkout from the United Nations Atomic Energy commission.

The Russian delegate quit this and other U. N. agencies over a demand for expulsion of the Chinese Nationalist representatives.

DILWORTH IN FORMAL DEBUT

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (AP)—Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia city treasurer, made his formal "debut" last night in his announced drive to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Dilworth was among the guests of honor at a $25-a-plate dinner attended by 2,500 Democratic leaders from 16 eastern Pennsylvania counties.

The dinner—which a spokesman said would "net about $50,000" for the party treasury—served to celebrate both Lincoln's birthday and the Democratic victory in Philadelphia's municipal election last fall. Dilworth won the post of city treasurer in an upset that gained for him statewide political notice.

Other guests included U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers, who is seeking re-election. Federal District Judge Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, another gubernatorial hopeful, was observed mingling with party leaders before the dinner.

In addressing the dinner audience, Dilworth lashed out at the Republican party, adding that "the most reactionary machine in the country is fighting for its life" in Pennsylvania. That "machine," he said, is opposed by "what is laughingly described as the liberal group."

But the "really dangerous" type of Republican, he said, is "the nut-toy type" which claims to favor part of the Roosevelt and Truman programs. "In the hands of such men the gains of the past 18 years would evaporate in 18 months."

Sen. Martin Speaks To Michigan GOP

Pontiac, Mich., Feb. 14 (AP)—"Spend, spend, spend—that is the order of the day in President Truman's program for the nation," declared Senator Martin (Pa.).

Martin told the Oakland County Lincoln Republican club last night that President Truman has given the nation "a dangerous, dishonest and immoral program."

"It is stealing and squandering the savings of the people," he said "and most important, it must result in national bankruptcy and the slavery of the socialist state."

Martin added that President Truman has predicted an income of $12,000 a year for the average wage earner 50 years from now.

The Pennsylvania Senator predicted that dollars in this "dream world" would be worth only 18 cents.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 14 (AP)—The battleship Missouri's steersman said Monday he "knew she was going aground" but did not tell the skipper "because it is not my place to give the captain orders. It is my place to take orders," and besides, "the captain was quite busy at that time."

Quartermaster Second Class Bevan E. Travis added:

The oldest existing maps are clay tablets dating from about 2,500 B. C.

Swarthmore Decides To "Remain Small"

Swarthmore, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Swarthmore college will remain small "in an era of expansion," says Swarthmore President John W. Nason.

In his annual report, Dr. Nason pointed out yesterday that a special committee was named a year ago to determine the college's future course. After long study, Dr. Nason said, the committee recommended Swarthmore admit from 850 to 900 students—about 100 and 150 more than the pre-war enrollment.

"In an era of expansion," Dr. Nason said, "Swarthmore has decided to remain small."

Ask Dismissal Of Accounting Suit

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis has asked a federal court to dismiss a suit in which a former miner asks an accounting of how Lewis and other trustees have administered the union's welfare fund.

Attorneys for Lewis told District Judge Burnita Matthews yesterday the suit was a "sham."

It was brought last September by George Livengood of Smithfield, Pa., against Lewis and the two other trustees, Ezra Van Horn and Sen. Bridges R.-N.H.). Van Horn has since resigned from the trusteeship.

Livengood, former secretary-treasurer of the UMW Local 6308 at Smithfield, asked an accounting of how the trustees spent $150,000,000 in three years.

He was expelled from the union after he began the court action. He had been on the disability rolls at $90 a month, but was cut off about the time that all payments were suspended by the three trustees.

SUGARIN' TIME FOR SOMERSET

Somerset, Pa., Feb. 11 (AP)—It's maple sugarin' time again in Somerset county.

Sap is running into buckets—thousands in the count's maple sugar groves.

Unseasonal weather caused some alarm among the sugar camp owners but they figure they are in for a good season if February and early March bring a series of cold frosty nights and warm days.

A few camps started test-tapping as early as the second week in January. Clarence Schall of Berlin boiled about 12 gallons last month. The first real production is under way at the George Keim farm, Somerset county's largest maple sugar producer.

Elsewhere in the county other camps also are preparing for the

HOUSE SEEKS TO CURB ABUSES IN GI TRAINING

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—House members looked today for ways to curb abuses in the GI vocational training program without depriving veterans of the chance to gain useful training.

But the big question in the minds of lawmakers was how far Congress should go in check-reining the educational rights guaranteed veterans under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (the GI bill).

Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) summed up this way:

"The basic question is simply this: Is the GI bill a readjustment act or a bonus act?"

Rep. Teague (D-Texas), like Wheeler a member of the House veterans committee, said he was concerned that Congress would go too far.

Fear Old Regulation

"What we're afraid of is the Veterans' Administration will put back into effect regulations it once had and which endangered the entitlement of veterans to their four educational opportunities guaranteed by law," he told a reporter.

Dodged yesterday by President Truman to tighten up the law on "blind alley" vocational training, the House is expected to consider some form of curbs within a week or two.

Differences of opinion over their extent, however, were likely to start a hot dispute.

Wheeler said he has already prepared proposals for making restrictions more stringent, and added that if debate shows a need for further study he would vote to send the entire matter back to committee.

Wheeler said he would offer his proposals as a substitute for the Senate-passed Taft bill when it comes to the House floor.

The Taft bill—among other things—would in effect prohibit the Veterans' Administration from issuing regulations which might deny veterans the right to select a course of study at any approved institution.

Cleared By Committee

This bill, tightened up somewhat by the House veterans committee, has been cleared by the rules committee for House consideration.

President Truman yesterday sent to Congress a report by Frank Pace, director of the budget, and Carl Gray, VA administrator, listing abuses by trade schools springing up since enactment of the GI bill in 1944.

The report said the "startling growth" in these schools has forced an increase in estimates of the cost of the GI program, from $1,992,000,000 in January 1949, to a present figure of $2,754,000,000.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
THE BILATERAL MIND
None of us sees anything exactly alike. We often call the attention of others to something that has deeply impressed us, only to be apparently rewarded with annoyance or lack of any interest whatsoever. How are we to know, however? It may be that we are the least appreciative!

We need to have a bilateral mind that will give us both sides of a question, as well as both sides of an opinion. The process that leads to a definite statement is often a long and tortuous one; therefore deserving consideration, not immediate dismissal.

In a democracy, like the United States, I believe that the two-party system is the best, so long as each party works for the over-all good of all the people. It doesn't always work out as cheerfully as this, however. There is too much partisanship, too much power politics, where one party rules too much or too often. Genuine cooperation is needed. It hurts one party to see the other one get credit for a good deed. As though glory could not be divided!

Often, when we read something by a person, we immediately form an opinion. But later, when we have had the opportunity to meet that one, we form a different opinion. How elastic our minds should be, so as to take in all truth and fact, and not just accept our own, or someone else's snap judgment. A bilateral mind should work out very well during these confusing and mystifying times.

The story of "The Prodigal Son," as told in the Bible, is an appealing one. It interested me so much that I have over the years collected a half dozen or more interpretations of the story by various artists, all of course different, but all interesting. Each tells its own story as the artist imagined it. There could easily be scores of interpretations.

The closed mind is a tragic spectacle. It lets in no light, finally resulting in nothing more than a box of dead ideas. The open mind and the bilateral mind, is the free, searching mind, seeking right solutions that will give the largest amount of good and happiness to the many.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Happiest Work."

Loved to hear the door bell ring; Pleased to see their friends come in. Liked to sit and hear them sing. Never seemed to mind the din. Used to say: "I want them near. Grown-ups and the children small. If they were not happy here, Home would not be home at all."

Facts About '49 Income Tax Reports

NO. 1—INCOME TAX DEADLINE: MARCH 15

(Editor's Note: This is the first of 12 stories explaining who must do what and how about his 1949 income tax return.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—Midnight of March 15 is the deadline for settling up on your 1949 income tax.

If your 1949 income was $600 or more, you must file a return, whether or not you owe any tax. If you owe any, you must pay it in full.

This applies to every man, woman and child, married or single, who had $600 or more income in 1949.

Blanks Sent Out

Under-$600 income is free of tax. If your less-than-$600 income in 1949 had some tax withheld from it, the government will return it—but only if you file a return. It's the only way you can get a refund.

The internal revenue collector has sent most people income tax blanks. If you don't have yours, you can get it at the nearest collector's office or at most banks and postoffices.

A number of points will be explained separately and in detail in the other 11 stories of this series, such as:

Who uses what form for filing his return; the problem of husband-wife filing and their filing of joint returns; exemptions; deductions; dependents; and how to fill out various forms.

These Are Highlights

Keep these highlights in mind: In every case where the wife has no income, a couple can't lose money by filing a joint return. Joint returns will save money even in most cases where husband and wife both had income.

That's because under present law husbands and wives are allowed to split their income, each claiming half, thus throwing each half into a lower bracket and making the total tax less.

Watch your exemptions. Each exemption you can rightfully claim means $600 chopped off your income before what's left of it can be taxed.

$600 Exemption

Each person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for each dependent, and $600 for his wife if she had no income or files jointly with him. If she had income and files a return separately, she claims her own $600 exemption.

In addition to the usual $600 exemption he gets for himself, anyone filing a return also gets an additional $600 off if he's blind, and another $600 off if he's 65 or older.

He gets the same extra $600 exemptions for his wife if she's blind or 65. But he does not get these extra exemptions for a dependent.

And—watch your deductions as a way of reducing your tax. To cut down the length of these stories, repetition will be avoided where possible. So it is suggested you clip each story of this series as it appears, for ready reference on a point that may be mentioned briefly in one story but explained more fully in another.

Ask Dismissal Of Accounting Suit

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis has asked a federal court to dismiss a suit in which a former miner asks an accounting of how Lewis and other trustees have administered the union's welfare fund.

Attorneys for Lewis told District Judge Burnita Matthews yesterday the suit was a "sham."

It was brought last September by George Livengood of Smithfield, Pa., against Lewis and the two other trustees, Ezra Van Horn and Sen. Bridges R-N.H.). Van Horn has since resigned from the trusteeship.

Livengood, former secretary-treasurer of the UMW Local 6308 at Smithfield, asked an accounting of how the trustees spent $150,000,000 in three years.

He was expelled from the union after he began the court action. He had been on the disability rolls at $90 a month, but was cut off about the time that all payments were suspended by the three trustees.

Sen. Martin Speaks To Michigan GOP

Pontiac, Mich., Feb. 14 (AP)—"Spend, spend, spend—that is the order of the day in President Truman's program for the nation," declared Senator Martin (-Pa.).

Martin told the Oakland County Lincoln Republican club last night that President Truman has given the nation "a dangerous, dishonest and immoral program."

"It is stealing and squandering the savings of the people," he said "and most important, it must result in national bankruptcy and the slavery of the socialist state."

Martin added that President Truman has predicted an income of $12,000 a year for the average wage earner 50 years from now.

The Pennsylvania Senator predicted that dollars in this "dream world" would be worth only 18 cents.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 14 (AP)—The battleship Missouri's steersman said Monday he "knew she was going aground" but did not tell the skipper "because it is not my place to give the captain orders. It is my place to take orders," and besides, "the captain was quite busy at that time."

Quartermaster Second Class Bevan E. Travis added.

SUGARIN' TIME FOR SOMERSET

Somerset, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—It's maple sugarin' time again in Somerset county.

Sap is running into buckets—they're called keelers—placed by the thousands in the count's maple sugar groves.

Unseasonal weather caused some alarm among the sugar camp owners but they figure they are in for a good season if February and early March bring a series of cold frosty nights and warm days.

A few camps started test-tapping as early as the second week in January. Clarence Schall of Berlin boiled about 12 gallons last month. The first real production is under way at the George Keim farm, Somerset county's largest maple sugar producer.

Elsewhere in the county other camps also are preparing for the annual sugarin' season. Equipment has been cleaned and boiled.

Somerset county produces one-third of Pennsylvania's total output of maple sugar. That's about 60,000 gallons of syrup and 100,000 pounds of syrup if the season is good.

The average three yields about 25 gallons of sugar water to the tap. From 30 to 50 gallons of sugar water is required to make a gallon of syrup.

A tiny insect built the great California fig industry, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Domestic fig growing began when the U.S.D.A. induced the small Mediterranean fig-wasp, needed for fertilization, to settle in a Fresno orchard 50 years ago.

EINSTEIN SAYS ANNIHILATION FACES MANKIND

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein warns mankind to stop fighting—or disappear from the face of the earth.

Development and use of the hydrogen bomb, he says, possibly could cause "annihilation of any life on earth" through radioactive poisoning of the atmosphere.

The man who gave science the theoretical knowledge needed to make the H-bomb presented a general two-point formula on Sunday for saving the peoples of the world from "general annihilation":

1. A ban on violence among nations, "not only with respect to means of mass destruction."

2. Creation of a "supra-national judicial and executive body (superior to any country, to decide questions of immediate concern to the security of the nations."

On Television Show
Einstein's views were given in the first of a series of television shows conducted by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt over the National Broadcasting company network.

The scientist, who is a leader in the institute for advanced study at Princeton, N. J., did not appear on the program in person. His statement was given by transcription in a discussion on the H-bomb.

Calling for peace moves to "do away with mutual fear and distrust," Einstein said the present arms race between the United States and Russia has developed a "hysterical character."

A supra-national body is necessary to carry out non-violent aims, he declared, and international control of weapons would be only "of secondary use as a police measure."

Griswold, who said his selection was a complete surprise to him, was absent from the city Saturday and announcement of his election was delayed until Sunday morning, when it was made at a news conference by President Seymour. The retiring president also was a professor of history when he was elected president of Yale 13 years ago.

Lewisburg, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Bucknell University has granted official recognition to that sometimes-forgotten figure—the college student's wife.

Bucknell President Horace Hildreth signed a legal-looking document conferring on all wives of recent Bucknell graduates the honorary degree of Ph.D. (pushed husband through).

The document read in part: "It is the wish and hope of the undersigned that although the spouse of the aforesaid Ph.D. may henceforth wear the academic cap and gown throughout the happy years to come, the aforesaid Ph.D. will continue to wear the academic pants."

More Charges Fly Among GOP Camps

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—A blunt charge that the Grundy faction is "trying to manipulate" selection of a candidate for governor narrowed chances today of peace between rival factions of the Republican party of Pennsylvania.

Two strategists of Gov. James H. Duff's candidacy for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator made the charge as both factions moved closer to a decision on the makeup of a ticket for the May 16 primary.

They claimed, in a week-end statement, that the Grundy faction put U. S. Representative John C. Kunkel into the field to oppose Duff for the senatorial nomination and backed Jay Cooke as a "harmony" candidate for governor.

"Since this group now has its hand-picked candidates in the field for both the Senate and the governorship," their statement said, "it is a farce and complete hypocrisy for them to pretend to be seeking harmony."

Buzzing Suitcase Is Bomb Scare Cause

Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP)—Los Angeles is still buzzing today about its airport bomb scare but the suitcase that caused it all has stopped buzzing. In fact, it isn't even in town any more.

All day Saturday police worried about a suitcase, left on a ticket counter at Los Angeles International Airport, from which came a mysterious humming sound. Finally ownership of the bag was established and reports from the east indicated the buzzing was made by an electric battery-powered vibrator.

Only then did police explosives experts pry open the suitcase. Sure enough, inside was a vibrator, still buzzing. Yesterday the airline sent the suitcase on to its owner, H. S. Harrison, New York.

Bucknell Awards Degree To Wives

Lewisburg, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Bucknell University has granted official recognition to that sometimes-forgotten figure—the college student's wife.

Bucknell President Horace Hildreth signed a legal-looking document conferring on all wives of recent Bucknell graduates the honorary degree of Ph.T. (pushed husband through).

The document read in part:

"It is the wish and hope of the undersigned that although the spouse of the aforesaid Ph.T. may henceforth wear the academic cap and gown throughout the happy years to come, the aforesaid Ph.T. will continue to wear the academic pants."

More Charges Fly Among GOP Camps

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—A blunt charge that the Grundy faction is "trying to manipulate" selection of a candidate for governor narrowed chances today of peace between rival factions of the Republican party of Pennsylvania.

Two strategists of Gov. James H. Duff's candidacy for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator made the charge as both factions moved closer to a decision on the makeup of a ticket for the May 16 primary.

They claimed, in a week-end statement, that the Grundy faction put U. S. Representative John C. Kunkel into the field to oppose Duff for the senatorial nomination and backed Jay Cooke as a "harmony" candidate for governor.

"Since this group now has its hand-picked candidates in the field for both the Senate and the governorship," their statement said, "it is a farce and complete hypocrisy for them to pretend to be seeking harmony."

Woman Celebrates Her 103rd Birthday

Westfield, N. J., Feb. 14 (AP)—"Never give up" is the motto of Mrs. Katherine Greenslade Lyon who marked her 103rd birthday Monday with an informal open house.

A large birthday cake topped with many candles was the center attraction at the party for relatives, neighbors and friends of Mrs. Lyon.

Buzzing Suitcase Is Bomb Scare Cause

Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP)—Los Angeles is still buzzing today about its airport bomb scare but the suitcase that caused it all has stopped buzzing. In fact, it isn't even in town any more.

All day Saturday police worried about a suitcase, left on a ticket counter at Los Angeles International Airport, from which came a mysterious humming sound. Finally ownership of the bag was established and reports from the east indicated the buzzing was made by an electric battery-powered vibrator.

Only then did police explosives experts pry open the suitcase. Sure enough, inside was a vibrator, still buzzing. Yesterday the airline sent the suitcase on to its owner, H. S. Harrison, New York.

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (AP)—The newly-elected president of Pennsylvania State College will be guest of honor February 28 at the annual dinner-meeting of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association. The PMA announced yesterday it is making the banquet a "Welcome to Pennsylvania" affair for the brother of the wartime supreme Allied commander in Europe. Eisenhower assumes his post at Penn State July 1. He was elected January 21.

Chapter 25

White Bear turned and looked at him. There were, Valse knew, probably other chiefs of equal rank here but White Bear was the senior chief among the Warran and they in a sense, were the host tribe at this gathering. In addition, it was White Bear's sons who had used, and that gave him a position of leadership which no other chief thought of disputing. His voice was sharp. "They have made a fair offer," he said. "We will hear what they have to say."

"It's a trick," Zachary persisted. "The fair offer was to try and rescue the woman!" He swept his arm in a gesture toward Sarah. It was not an impressive argument. Amusement showed in White Bear's eyes for a moment. "With you here to guard her?" he asked. "Not to mention the rest of us?"

Zachary colored, blushing his lips. "But it is a ruse," he insisted. "While they engage up in palaver, others will creep up to attack us." Again, a sardonic smile relaxed White Bear's close-set mouth for just an instant. He would require a formidable force to do anything like that, and plainly he placed no credence in the possibility of such a thing. His answer was a gesture.

"Our guards will watch for them," he instructed. "If there is any such attack, these two die instantly. But now we will hear them. In my lodge," he added ceremoniously, and bowed to Valse and de Polo with a slight inclination of the head. Plainly, Zachary's nervousness at the sight of them had made him more determined to know what they had to say.

When the war drums had ceased their muttering, the dancing had stopped as well. De Polo promptly dismounted, and Valse followed his example. De Polo spoke first. "It will be well to keep a watch on him," he said, indicating Zachary. "Yesterday, many of us were trying him in town and he shot one man and escaped. He must try it again."

"He will have a hard time here," White Bear grunted, but there was a warning in the words, and Valse saw Zachary's face go a little pale, so that the vermilion paint which had been daubed across it showed garish by contrast. Certain of the more seasoned warriors moved up a little closer, and now they were as watchful of Zachary as of these other white men.

Valse could find it in his heart to feel a little sorry for Zachary at that moment. He was thinking again of the days when they had played together as boys, and how vividly their trails had forked. This was a tight spot for a man to be in, and there was little likelihood of Zachary's escaping it. Moreover, White Bear and the others were ready enough to listen to accusations against Zachary, remembering that he had made promises which had proved false in the case of Lone Buffalo.

They filed into White Bear's big lodge, along with about a dozen of the chiefs and took their places in the circle. No attempts had been made to disarm them, and that was a favorable sign. The light in here was doubly murky. White Bear spoke sharply. "What is it that you have to tell us?"

"It is a long story," de Polo explained, and he was the cool, spare, pambler again, perfectly collected and at ease. "I must tell you first of this man and how he is concerned in it, so that you can understand it. He nodded toward Valse.

"The real value for time," Zachary cut in. "I tell you it's a trick." "None the less, we shall hear them," White Bear retorted sharply, and there was civility in the old chief's tone. "We have all the time there is," he added. "Let us hear it, a-a-a. Go on," he added to de Polo.

The gambler did so very faring how the gun had belonged to Valse, how Zachary had schemed to get it for himself and going on to recount the return of Valse to the country, and what had led to everyone was looking for him.

Did not he—recounting Zachary—come to you the other day and asked you to help him kill the man de Polo ordered to kill? You saw him with White Bear, because he was blood-brother to Zachary, and wanted to help him?

"That is true," White Bear admitted. "You were at the time that there was peace between white man and red, as before?" "So did Zachary and I, and he hoped to see a trouble. This is a story that happened. The white man with the white hair was killed by Lone Buffalo. Was another white man, a good friend to Valse. As it happened Valse was close enough so that he saw him shot, and he called out the man who had murdered him to stop. That Lone Buffalo did not do. He fled. So, not knowing who he was, knowing only that he had murdered his friend, Valse shot at him. As any of you would have done."

"But he was the one who killed Lone Buffalo," Zachary reminded them triumphantly.

Regular monthly meetings of the organization will be held on each first Monday night at 7:45 o'clock at Schottie's banquet hall. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is a civic organization for young men between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive. It has a two-fold purpose: the improvement and development of the community and the improvement and development of its individual members to train them for business advancement and civic leadership. There are more than 1400 of these local organizations throughout the United States with a membership of more than 130,000.

Previous Meeting Held

This organization has been under consideration for several weeks in Littlestown. A pre-organization meeting was held on Monday, January 30, in the basement of the Littlestown State bank, when representatives of the Hanover Junior Chamber of Commerce were present and explained the aims and purposes of the organization. L. Robert Snyder was named temporary chairman. The following committee was named to draw up a temporary constitution and by-laws: Donald Mann, Herbert Plunkert, J. Robert Sell, Edgar E. Yeely and L. Robert Snyder. This committee met on Monday, February 6, in the directors' room of the Littlestown National bank and drew up the temporary constitution and by-laws, which were presented at the organization meeting on Monday night.

There will be a meeting of the directors in the near future. The next regular meeting of the organization will be Monday, March 6, at 7:45 p. m. in Schottie's banquet hall.

"Youth's Part in Meeting Human Needs" was the topic for the weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Sunday evening. Free King was guest speaker, who discussed the topic and Miss Harriet Baddery was the leader. During the business session which followed, there was a discussion of the county Christian Endeavor skating party, which will be held Friday evening at Basehor's rink in Littlestown. A number of members from the society will attend. Miss Dolores Koozitz was chosen leader for next Sunday evening.

Directors to Meet

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening in the fire hall, following the meeting of the Lions' club at about 8:30 o'clock.

The weekly rehearsal of the Littlestown Men's chorus will be held Thursday evening at 9 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The annual party for the children of the members will be held at the monthly meeting of the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity on Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the P. O. S. of A. hall. Entertainment will be furnished by Miller, the magician, from Hanover. This meeting will be in the form of a Valentine party.

A lamb feed will be held Wednesday, 6:30 p. m., by the Littlestown Fish and Game association, in the club house on their farm in Germany township. This event is made possible by the donation of a lamb by Chester Spangler, a member of the club.

CIO SUGGESTS TAX PROGRAM

Washington, Feb. 14 (P)—The CIO said today President Truman's tax program does not go far enough. It proposed a plan for vice excise taxes and cutting of "present tax burdens from low-income individuals to the wealthy and to high-profit corporations."

While agreeing with large parts of the President's program the labor organization recommended to Congress that it also consider the new tax bill.

Intervenor—Steps now to raise the personal individual income tax burdens that would reduce the taxes of low income families. The idea is to look forward to the establishment of levels of exemption which permit the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for a family of four. Mr. Truman recommended no change in individual income taxes.

Excess profits—Re-enactment of the excess profits tax on corporations, in order to equalize the burden and the incidence of our present tax structure. Such a tax was levied in wartime but was repealed shortly after. The President did not propose such a tax.

Unconstructed profit—a new levy on the unconstructed profits of corporations instead of an increase from 36 to 42 percent in the corporate income tax rate. Mr. Truman proposed the CIO suggested a top corporate tax of 55 percent, which would be graduated downward in reverse proportion to the percentage of its earnings a corporation pays out in dividends. This in effect would tax the unconstructed profits.

"Who would do less, in the case of a friend?" White Bear demanded. And he dismissed this at least for the time. Tell us, he said.

LIONS CLUB TO Heyburn Urges

county, York-Adams area, set-up in Boy Scouts. He said the Black Walnut district last year contributed $2,800 for services and organization work that would have cost at least $7,000 as a separate county unit. The area's budget for the year was $32,000. Mr. Dickson said there are 650 Boy Scouts in Adams county and reported the Black Walnut district showed a 33 percent increase in enrollment during last year.

Dickson also told of plans for the jamboree gathering of 40,000 United States Boy Scouts at Valley Forge this summer and showed a color motion picture film of the international scout jamboree in France in 1947.

The Lions received an invitation to the 25th anniversary party of the New Holland Lions club February 28 when International Vice President Walter C. Fisher will be the speaker.

91 Attend Meeting

There was also an invitation to attend a ladies' night meeting of the Taneytown Lions club this evening.

The club received a notice of the Barber Shop singing contest to be sponsored by the Upper Adams Lions April 14 and Richard Shade was placed in charge of suggestions for local participation in the contest.

C. Paul Cessna told of a state board and international councilors' meeting he attended last week-end at State College when arrangements for the state Lions convention there June 18-21 were advanced.

President Donald M. Swops presided at the meeting with 91 members in attendance.

'BUY AT HOME'

tainable at home, it is true, but there are just as many things we buy from distant places that can be obtained right here, in just as good quality and just as cheaply.

Predicts Big Future

The one-time idea of the "hick" has "rapidly disappeared from the scene," Hood said, "and this is good. Rapid means of transportation, the fact that the good roads have made it possible for thousands of people who work in cities to live in the country, better schools in rural areas, radio, telephone and electricity have all had their share in doing away with the one-time enmity between town and country," he noted.

Farming will become an even bigger and more important industry as the years go by, the State College economist predicted. "Estimates have been made to prove that, including lumber, 65 percent of all of the raw materials for industry are now produced on the farm. The present trends indicate that this will go far higher. Our mines are wearing out; our natural resources are being used and cannot be replaced. On the farm we have a source of raw materials which is replaced each year. As a result much research is being carried out. Already 13 important industrial uses for soy beans have been found. Apple syrup is being used for glycerine, milk solids are being used for plastics. Alcohol can be made from potatoes and grains and in some countries alcohol is being used widely as a fuel.

17 Farmer Guests

"Of course it is not to be assumed that there will be a vast new market for farm products in industry, immediately. All of this is in the experimental stage, but there are unlimited possibilities for the future."

Fifty-nine attended the meeting, including 17 farmer guests. Col. Thomas Peck was introduced as a new member. Frederic E. Grist presided at the meeting. A "Little German Band" from Buzierville high school provided several numbers. Members of the band included Dale Kanagy, Bert Frederick, Patricia Martin, Ronnie Alwine, Owen Taylor and Albert Hoffman.

President William G. Weaver presided at the meeting.

Family Of 14 Is Homeless After Fire

Weissport, Pa., Feb. 11 (P)—Mrs. Raymond Christman and her 12 children are homeless today after a blaze in which one of the four-storyers was severely burned.

Christman told firemen the blaze swept through his two-story house last night after an explosion in a gasoline-powered motor he was using to operate a wood saw.

James Christman, 33, was taken to Pattonville hospital with second and third degree burns of the body. A brother, Claude six, escaped by smashing a window and leaping to safety.

The Christman children range in age from four to 25. It marked the second time the Christmans have been left homeless because of a fire. On March 20, 1944, their house was destroyed by fire when the family was living on Flagstaff Mountain near Mauch Chunk, Pa.

George Q. Walk, Lehighton, Pa., was convicted on an arson charge in connection with the earlier fire and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in Eastern State Penitentiary.

Plans for a shoot on February 25, at 1 o'clock will be outlined Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the Gettysburg Sportsmen's association, President Ray Culp announced today. The session will be held at the club's cabin along Walnut street.

the other half of the world that fight has largely terminated because men have, both willingly and unwillingly, accepted bondage to a soulless, heartless, creature without substance or form which is called the state.

"Before we can adequately cope with the job which destiny and history have thrust upon us we must first make certain of ourselves. Are we willing to live by the sweat of other men's brows? Are we weakening our Republic by attempting to do for the people those things which they can and must do for themselves?"

"It would seem to me that if our nation ever needed a statesman of the stature of Lincoln to rise among us, the time is now. We have all heard of shortages of all kinds out there if there is one single major shortage that is it. Before we can accomplish the great mission of freedom which faces us, and whose greatest exponent we honor today, we must put in order our spiritual, moral, intellectual and economic houses.

Issue U. S. Deficit

"We are going to have a knar government deficit of five billion dollars. We are going to spend between 42 and 50 billion dollars next year. The whole picture becomes fantastic when we face the fact that there exists in our own land a national debt of more than 250 billion dollars. With such a situation as this, where government approaches mastery, could anything be more pertinent than Lincoln's statement:

"As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. Perhaps today, more than ever, we need the definition which Lincoln saw the lack of in his speech in Baltimore, when he said, 'The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty and the American people just now are much in want of one.' I am afraid that the need is even more urgent today."

The dinner opened with the singing of one verse of America, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church. During the dinner, piano music was played by Prof. Richard B. Shade, director of music in the public schools.

Basehor Is Toastmaster

Among those seated at the speaker's table were County Chairman John H. Basehor, who was toastmaster, Mr. Heyburn, Dr. Fox, State Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Assemblyman Francis Worley, State Committeeman Clarence C. Smith, Mrs. Ethel Tipson, county vice chairman, former Congressman Chester H. Gross and J. M. Sneads, president of the Adams County Historical society. Among guests present was Mrs. Helen Lowen, Harrisburg, former recorder of wills, Dauphin county, and Adams county native, and Mrs. Gross.

"Little Known Facts About a Well-Known County," was the subject of a talk on Adams county history by Mr. Sheads. Adams county was not always so well known," Mr. Sheads said. "Many years ago it was known as the 'poor buckwheat county.'"

The county, he said, has had an experience covering 263 years. For 47 years it was a part of Chester county, until Lancaster county broke from Chester. Then it was a part of the latter county for 20 years, and a part of York county for 51 years, until it became Adams county in 1800. This year, Mr. Sheads said, the county observes its sesqui-centennial.

"The formation of the county was motivated for many years, because of the long distance to travel to York and the pretentious condition of the roads. Elections in these days were held at the county seat, and residents of this area had to go to York to vote."

Countians In All Wars Mr. Sheads recalled that Adams county furnished men for every war. The first troops west of the Hudson river to join Washington at Boston were recruited at the James Gettys tavern here, he said. He listed among the many prominent men who have lived here or visited Gettysburg, Daniel Webster, Thaddeus Stevens, James Cooper, the only U. S. Senator from Adams county, Michael Jacobs, member of the first faculty of Gettysburg college; Rev. Alexander Dobbs, who established the first classical school west of the Susquehanna here; James Buchanan, president who was admitted to the bar here in 1822; Edward McPherson, who served two terms in the House of Representatives.

Visit To Burns

He mentioned also General William W. Wright, brilliant army engineer born near York Springs, and Dr. Samuel A. New, early exponent of vaccination.

Mr. Sheads also cited Lincoln's visit to John Burns while here for the dedication of the national cemetery, how he walked arm and arm with the "citizen hero" of Gettysburg to the Presbyterian church and later conversed with him at Burns' home. He said also that Washington visited the county on two occasions; that there were two states in the county on the "underground railway"; two famous watering places, and the Studebaker forge near Hunterstown.

Francis Scott Key was admitted to the bar in Adams county and before his death returned here to free a slave, according to Mr. Sheads. He told interestingly of the silk worm "crisis" in the 1830's and of the extensive carriage manufacturing industry before the Civil war.

School Students Sing During the program, a boys' octette from Gettysburg high school, under the direction of Prof. Shade, presented to numbers, "Daniel the Spaniel," and "Freedom," by Rachmaninoff. A mixed choral group later sang "Freedom" by Markell, and "The Gettysburg Address" set to music by Carl Mueller. Arthur Aiken was the narrator.

Mr. Heyburn, the principal speaker, was introduced by State Senator McPherson. Chairman Beschore read a letter of regret from George Baker, Abbotsstown, chairman of the county executive committee, who was unable to be present because of illness.

(Continued from Page 1) edition but the streets" Burgess Weaver told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times "I think it is one of the finest things we can do. I am heartily in favor of the movement."

Councilman John D. Teeter, Second Ward, said: "I am in hearty accord with your announcement to renovate Center square, LINCOLN SQUARE. There isn't anything we in Gettysburg can do which will repay, even in a small measure, Abraham Lincoln for the world-wide recognition he has given this Community."

"I propose to ask the borough council to officially ordain LINCOLN SQUARE."

To the Editor The Gettysburg Times

The renaming of Center square to LINCOLN SQUARE is one of the most far-reaching changes proposed for Gettysburg in years. It is a step forward in connecting our town further with Lincoln, and his historical Gettysburg. Address. It will take an appropriation from Congress or even Borough council to do it—its free and how many worthwhile changes can be made in a city or even a borough at no cost to the taxpayer of today?

I make this motion to borough council (and I hope someone will second it) that the name

Center square be changed to LINCOLN SQUARE as recommended in The Gettysburg Times for February 11, 1950.

We as citizens of Gettysburg can do something further with respect to our town—namely mark each site in the borough which played any part in the Civil War or any other interesting part in the history of the community. Visitors who come to Gettysburg are interested in what happened here or they would not make the trip—the Battlefield is well marked but what about the town—I believe the Adams County Historical Society can enlighten us on many landmarks in the borough.

In passing let me remind you that our Chamber of Commerce is doing a fine job, with the limited capital at its disposal, to acquaint potential visitors with Gettysburg—each year it sends thousands of colored folders to schools, clubs, travel agencies and individuals, unpressing them with what we have here and inviting them to be our guests, guests who will visit LINCOLN SQUARE in Gettysburg.

Regular monthly meetings of the organization will be held on each first Monday night at 7:45 o'clock in Schottie's banquet hall.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is a civic organization for young men between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive. It has a two-fold purpose: the improvement and development of the community and the improvement and development of its individual members to train them for business advancement and civic leadership. There are more than 1,400 of these local organizations throughout the United States with a membership of more than 130,000.

Previous Meeting Held

This organization has been under consideration for several weeks in Littlestown. A pre-organization meeting was held on Monday, January 30, in the basement of the Littlestown State bank, when representatives of the Hanover Junior Chamber of Commerce were present and explained the aims and purposes of the organization. L. Robert Snyder was named temporary chairman. The following committee was named to draw up a temporary constitution and by-laws: Donald Mann, Herbert Plunkert, J. Robert Sell, Edgar E. Yeely and L. Robert Snyder. This committee met on Monday, February 6, in the directors' room of the Littlestown National bank and drew up the temporary constitution and by-laws, which were presented at the organization meeting on Monday night.

There will be a meeting of the directors in the near future. The next regular meeting of the organization will be Monday, March 6, at 7:45 p. m. in Schottie's banquet hall.

"Youth's Part in Meeting Human Needs" was the topic for the weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Sunday evening. Fred King was guest speaker, who discussed the topic and Mrs. Harriet Badders was the leader. During the business session which followed, there was a discussion of the county Christian Endeavor skating party, which will be held Friday evening at Basehoar's rink in Littlestown. A number of members from the society will attend. Miss Dolores Koontz was chosen leader for next Sunday evening.

Directors to Meet

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening in the fire hall, following the meeting of the Lions' club at about 8:30 o'clock.

The weekly rehearsal of the Littlestown Men's chorus will be held Thursday evening at 9 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The annual party for the children of the members will be held at the monthly meeting of the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity on Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the P. O. S. of A. hall. Entertainment will be furnished by Miller, the magician, from Hanover. This meeting will be in the form of a Valentine party.

A lamb feed will be held Wednesday, 6:30 p. m., by the Littlestown Fish and Game association, in the club house on their farm in Germany township. This event is made possible by the donation of a lamb by Chester Spangler, a member of the club.

CIO SUGGESTS TAX PROGRAM

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—The CIO said today President Truman's tax program does not go far enough. It proposed a plan for wide excise taxes and shifting of "present tax burdens from low-income individuals to the wealthy and to high-profit corporations."

While agreeing with large parts of the President's program the labor organization recommended to Congress that it also consider in the new tax bill.

Individuals—Steps now to raise the personal individual income tax exemptions that would reduce the taxes of low income families. The idea is to look forward to the establishment of levels of exemption which permit the maintenance of a minimum standard of living for a family of four," Mr. Truman recommended no change in individual income taxes.

Excess profits—Re-enactment of the excess profits tax on corporations, "in order to equalize the burden and the incidence of our present tax structure." Such a tax was levied in wartime but was repealed shortly after. The President did not propose such a tax.

Undistributed profits—a new levy on the undistributed profits of corporations, instead of an increase from 36 to 42 per cent in the corporation income tax rate as Mr. Truman proposed. The CIO suggested a top corporation tax of 55 per cent, which would be graduated downward in reverse proportion to the percentage of its earnings a corporation pays out in dividends. This in effect would tax the undistributed profits.

"But he was the one who killed Lone Buffalo," Zachary reminded them triumphantly.

"Who would do less, in the case of a friend?" White Bear demanded. And he dismissed this, at least for the time. "Tell on," he said.

county, York-Adams area, set-up in Boy Scouting. He said the Black Walnut district last year contributed $2,800 for services and organization work that would have cost at least $7,000 as a separate county unit. The area's budget for the year was $32,000. Mr. Dickson said there are 650 Boy Scouts in Adams county and reported the Black Walnut district showed a 35 percent increase in enrollment during last year.

Dickson also told of plans for the jamboree gathering of 40,000 United States Boy Scouts at Valley Forge this summer and showed a color motion picture film of the international scout jamboree in France in 1947.

The Lions received an invitation to the 25th anniversary party of the New Holland Lions club February 28 when International Vice President Walter C. Fisher will be the speaker.

91 Attend Meeting

There was also an invitation to attend a ladies' night meeting of the Taneytown Lions club this evening.

The club received a notice of the Barber Shop singing contest to be sponsored by the Upper Adams Lions April 14 and Richard Shade was placed in charge of suggestions for local participation in the contest.

C. Paul Cessna told of a state board and international councilors' meeting he attended last week-end at State College when arrangements for the state Lions convention there June 18-21 were advanced.

President Donald M. Swopes presided at the meeting with 91 members in attendance.

'BUY AT HOME'

tainable at home, it is true, but there are just as many things we buy from distant places that can be obtained right here, in just as good quality and just as cheaply.

Predicts Big Future

The one-time idea of the "hick" has "rapidly disappeared from the scene," Hood said, "and this is good. Rapid means of transportation, the fact that the good roads have made it possible for thousands of people who work in cities to live in the country, better schools in rural areas, radio, telephone and electricity have all had their share in doing away with the one-time enmity between town and country," he noted.

Farming will become an even bigger and more important industry as the years go by, the State College economist predicted.

"Estimates have been made to prove that, including lumber, 65 percent of all of the raw materials for industry are now produced on the farm. The present trends indicate that this will go far higher. Our mines are wearing out; our natural resources are being used and cannot be replaced. On the farm we have a source of raw materials which is replaced each year. As a result much research is being carried out. Already 13 important industrial uses for soy beans have been found. Apple syrup is being used for glycerine, milk solids are being used for plastics. Alcohol can be made from potatoes and grains and in some countries alcohol is being used widely as a fuel.

17 Farmer Guests

"Of course it is not to be assumed that there will be a vast new market for farm products in industry, immediately. All of this is in the experimental stage, but there are unlimited possibilities for the future."

Fifty-nine attended the meeting, including 17 farmer guests. Col. Thomas Peddy was introduced as a new member. Frederic E. Griest presided at the meeting. A "Little German Band" from Biglerville high school provided several numbers. Members of the band included Dale Kanagy, Bert Frederick, Patricia Martin, Ronnie Alwine, Owen Taylor and Albert Hoffman.

President William G. Weaver presided at the meeting.

Family Of 14 Is Homeless After Fire

Weissport, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Christian and their 12 children are homeless today after a blaze in which one of the youngsters was severely burned.

Christian told firemen the blaze swept through his two-story house last night after an explosion in a gasoline-powered motor he was using to operate a wood saw.

James Christian, 13, was taken to Palmyra hospital with second and third degree burns of the body. A brother, Claude, six, escaped by smashing a window and leaping to safety.

The Christian children range in age from four to 25. It marked the second time the Christians have been left homeless because of a fire. On March 20, 1944, their house was destroyed by fire when the family was living on Flagstaff Mountain near Mauch Chunk, Pa.

George Q. Walk, Lehigh, Pa., was convicted on an arson charge in connection with the earlier fire and was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in Eastern State Penitentiary.

Plans for a shoot on February 25, at 1 o'clock will be outlined Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the Gettysburg Sportsmen's association, President Ray Culp announced today. The session will be held at the club's cabin along Wainwright avenue.

Heyburn Urges

the other half of the world that fight has largely terminated because men have, both willingly and unwillingly, accepted bondage to a soulless, heartless, creature without substance or form which is called 'the state.'

"Before we can adequately cope with the job which destiny and history have thrust upon us we must first make certain of ourselves. Are we willing to live by the sweat of other men's faces? Are we weakening our Republic by attempting to do for the people those things which they can and must do for themselves?"

"It would seem to me that if our nation ever needed a statesman of the stature of Lincoln to rise among us, the time is now. We have all heard of shortages of all kinds but if there is one single major shortage that is it. Before we can accomplish the great mission of freedom which faces us, and whose greatest exponent we honor today, we must put in order our spiritual, moral, intellectual and economic houses."

Huge U. S. Deficit

"We are going to have a known government deficit of five billion dollars. We are going to spend between 42 and 50 billion dollars next year. The whole picture becomes fantastic when we face the fact that there exists in our own land a national debt of more than 250 billion dollars. With such a situation as this, where government approaches mastery, could anything be more pertinent than Lincoln's statement:

"As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. Perhaps today, more than ever, we need the definition which Lincoln saw the lack of in his speech in Baltimore, when he said: 'The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty and the American people just now are much in want of one.' I am afraid that the need is even more urgent today."

The dinner opened with the singing of one verse of America, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church. During the dinner, piano music was played by Prof. Richard B. Shade, director of music in the public schools.

Basehoar Is Toastmaster

Among those seated at the speaker's table were County Chairman John H. Basehoar, who was toastmaster; Mr. Heyburn; Dr. Fox; State Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr.; Assemblyman Francis Worley; State Committeeman Clarence C. Smith; Mrs. Ethel Tipton, county vice chairman; former Congressman Chester H. Gross and J. M. Sheads, president of the Adams County Historical society. Among guests present was Mrs. Helen Lowen, Harrisburg, former recorder of wills, Dauphin county and Adams county native, and Mrs. Gross.

"Little Known Facts About a Well-Known County," was the subject of a talk on Adams county history by Mr. Sheads. "Adams county was not always so well known," Mr. Sheads said. "Many years ago it was known as the 'poor buckwheat county.'"

The county, he said, had had an experience covering 268 years. For 47 years it was a part of Chester county, until Lancaster county broke from Chester. Then it was a part of the latter county for 20 years, and a part of York county for 51 years, until it became Adams county in 1800. This year, Mr. Sheads said, the county observes its sesqui-centennial.

In Memoriam 3

In sad remembrance of our dear Mother, Mrs. Alvey Leatherman, who departed this life 19 years ago February 13, 1931.

The years have passed since that sad day
When the one we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was his will.
But in our hearts she is living still.
Sweet rest she has entered,
No more to grieve or to weep,
She is smiling upon us from heaven,
Our dear Mother has fallen asleep.
Although we cannot clasp your hand
Your face we cannot see
But let this little token show
We still remember thee.

By the family and daughter.

BURGESS ASKS TRAFFIC RELIEF

Burgess William G. Weaver today asked motorists to avoid using East High street Monday through Friday at 11:45 a. m. and at 3:30 p. m. because of the congested traffic in this block caused by parents calling for children at the high school.

"The almost daily traffic jam that occurs on East High street when parents of the children attend the high school call for them is not only annoying but dangerous to the children," the Burgess, head of the police department, said. "Under present borough traffic and parking regulations there is nothing the police can do as no actual violations take place."

"Until such time as parking changes in our traffic and parking regulations are completed it is suggested that motorists avoid East High street unless necessary for business or to pick up school children."

"Borough police will be on hand to assist and, with the carrying out of the above suggestion, relief should be accomplished."

Vacancy Is Filled

The monthly meeting of the Littlestown borough school board was held in the office of the supervising principal following the meeting of the executive board of the Littlestown jointure on Tuesday evening. Warriors Remain In South Penn Race By Topping Wildcats 43-40

A steal of the ball at midcourt and a dribble through and a layup by Bobby Sachs with but two minutes remaining proved the decisive points as the Gettysburg high Warriors topped Mechanicsburg 43-40 here Tuesday evening in a South Penn league game.

A minute before Sachs landed his goal Mechanicsburg had taken its only lead of the evening at 40-39 when Parks sent the Wildcats ahead with a jump shot.

In the remaining seconds Deardorff and Ford came through with foul shots to clinch the decision.

As a result of their victory, only the Warriors now stand between Chambersburg and its seventh straight league title. The Trojans need only the combination of a win and a Gettysburg loss to clinch the second half honors. Coach Forney's outfit plays at Hanover Friday and entertains Chambersburg here next Tuesday.

Warriors Start Fast
The Warriors started Tuesday's game with a rush and breezed into a 14-5 lead on the tossing of Deardorff, Sachs and Harrel but successive goals by Badorf, Emel and Parks cut the period margin to 14-11.

From then on it was a close affair with the locals holding a slight margin. Both teams turned in some nice shooting throughout the second period with Gettysburg holding a 29-25 half time lead.

Mechanicsburg cut the lead to 32-31 in the first three minutes of the third frame but goals by Deardorff, Kuhn and Sachs enabled the Forney-men to lead 38-32 going into the final stanza.

After a minute of play Harrel netted a foul. A pair of goals by Emel followed by Parks' jump shot sent the visitors ahead 40-39 for the only time with two minutes to go before Sachs made his steal and important shot as the Wildcats were stalling.

The victory marked the 12th win against seven defeats for the Warriors while the defeat practically eliminated Mechanicsburg as a second half contender.

Coach Howard Shoemaker's reserves took the preliminary game 35-24 after being held to a 15-13 lead at half time.

The Whites and Maroons, fifth and six graders of the Junior Boys Recreation league, staged a 10-minute exhibition game between halves of the varsity game with the former team winning 4-2.

TWO CRASHES IN LINCOLN SQUARE An automobile driven by Raymond L. Fair, 402 South Washington Street struck the car of Donald T. Hoff, 109 Springs avenue, at 7 o'clock this morning in LINCOLN SQUARE, according to a borough police report. The right front fender of the Fair car struck the left rear fender of the Hoff automobile, according to the report. Damage to Fair's car was estimated at $30 and to Hoff's car at $25. Fair was coming around the square and Hoff was driving into it from Chambersburg street, police said. Police reported two other cars collided in LINCOLN SQUARE at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday night. The automobiles involved were driven by Henry S. Wright, Gettysburg R. 1, who suffered $5 damage, and Robert R. McCoy, 65 East Stevens street, who suffered $40 damage. Police said McCoy was entering the square from Carlisle street and Wright was coming into the square from York street. FAIRFIELD FIRE (Continued from Page 1) old and fast becoming obsolete simply because our trucks are aged," the letter notes. "One is a 1926 model and the other is a 1938. Our one and only pump is more than 25 years old and is not in a dependable condition. Our hose is fast becoming deteriorated with age, and further, our equipment as a whole was designed for the pre-war era and not of the standards of today. "Let's look back to those days when very few had electricity and not very much of anything like we have today with modern appliances by the hundreds, high octane gasoline and greases, motors, synthetic materials, all of which are highly combustible and very hard to control in case of fire. Did you ever hear of faulty wiring back in those days as the cause of fires? Now all these increased hazards are the chief cause for modern equipment with which to combat these fires." The more than $10,000 sought in the drive will pay for the new fire engine, new hose, smoke masks and other modern equipment, according to the letter. Those wishing to donate are asked to send checks to Roger Myers, Fairfield. POLICE SEARCH FOR TWO MEN IN DEATH PROBE

Haverford, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—Police broadened their search today for two young men said to have visited 24-year-old David R. Clement less than 12 hours before he was found strangled in his room at the fashionable Merion Cricket Club.

Clement, graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania and bellhop at the renowned golf club, was found dead yesterday. He had been strangled by his own necktie and was tied to the foot rail of a brass bedstead in his blood-spattered room.

Had Visitors

Capt. William Shaffer, chief of Lower Merion township detectives, announced he had learned Clement—son of a New England business executive—had entertained two young men in his quarters on Monday night, and sent out an alarm for them.

A maid discovered the body. She had entered Clement's room with a package to clean it. Questioning of the club's staff disclosed no one had seen Clement since the night before, 12 hours earlier, when a locker room employee reported seeing him in the men's washroom.

But, Clement had visitors after he was seen by the locked room employee. Captain Shaffer said Coroner Winslow J. Rushong, among the first to arrive, following discovery of the body, announced "there is little doubt he was murdered." Later, however, the coroner said it might have been suicide.

Clement was the son of Walter E. Clement, former city councilman in Lowell, Mass., and now an executive of a Boston construction firm. He was graduated from Colby College, Waterville, Me., in 1948.

Clement's wife, the former Martha Ann Soule, of Providence, R. I., began divorce proceedings against him last September and was scheduled to receive a final decree next month. She and a daughter, Nancy, 4, are living with Mrs. Clement's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Soule, in Providence.

London, Feb. 15 (AP)—The colonial office reported Monday the rescue of 11 scientists by ski plane and boat from an icy Antarctic island where they had been stranded more than two years. The 1,200-ton supply ship John Biscoe cut through floes to the edge of the ice field surrounding the Stonington island base yesterday and took aboard the last six.

Philadelpia, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has held that Philadelphia's new tax on income from investments and corporations is illegal. The state's highest tribunal, taking original jurisdiction in the case, said the tax is "too vague and uncertain" to be enforced. The opinion was unanimous.

PLAN TO CURB HISTORY STUDY CALLED TRAGIC

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Two little news items which cropped up within the past few days have, by an association of ideas, been leading your columnist a chase of speculation.

The first item had to do with the suggestion, made at a meeting of the New York State Council for Social Studies, that schools spend more time on contemporary affairs and not so much on history. It was explained that for many students coming out of high schools now, "history is a luxury."

The second, which seemed to supplement the other, was from Boston, Mass., recording that Mayor John Hynes had announced cancellation of that city's annual dual observance of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. Lack of public interest was given as the reason. Last year only 32 people showed up for the combined event of February 12 in Faneuil hall, "cradle of American liberty."

Tragic Action

Well, it certainly is vital for everyone—in school and out—to keep close track of current events these days when the world is undergoing a political-social-economic upheaval. It isn't safe not to, for our very national security may depend on our alertness.

However, it strikes me that it will be tragic if this effort of keeping track of history in the making precludes a reasonable study of history already made. As a matter of fact one is inclined to recommend strongly that more time be spent in reviewing the development of our own great nation.

That might help in cataloguing some of the specious ideological germs which are flitting about, seeking soft spots on which to attach themselves.

This country stands not only as the richest and most powerful of all time, but its government long has been copied by budding nations abroad as an example of democracy at its best. If that is what America is, how did she get that way?

Fascinating Story

It's a fascinating story of colonial pioneering in a new world filled with dangers and hardships. It's a picture of daring men and women hewing a nation out of the wilderness—laboring with rifles handy as protection against the savages—enduring privations so grievous that often death was a welcome relief.

In short it was an achievement involving a major degree of personal initiative.

Naturally time brings changes in the way of life of any nation. But there is no occasion to abandon fundamental principles which have been proven right. We should fight to retain them.

Yes, it's smart to know the full history of our great nation.

PAASIKIVI IS RE-ELECTED BY FINLAND TODAY

Helsinki, Finland, Feb. 15 (AP)—Anti-Communist Juho Paasikivi was named president of Finland today for a second term.

The 79-year old statesman was chosen by the 300-member electoral college for a term of six years. He got 171 of the votes.

Communist candidate Mauno Pekkala received 67 electoral votes. The Agrarian candidate, Dr. Urho Kekkonen, received 62 votes.

The electors were chosen in the popular vote of a month ago. Paasikivi had the support of electors chosen by the Conservatives, the Progressives and the Swedish People's party, who mustered, together, 107 electoral votes. In addition, the Social Democrats, who had won 64 electors, had decided to throw their strength to him.

RED PROMISES SOUR TRUMAN

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—President Truman was reported today by the New York Times as saying he has lost faith in Russian promises but still is hopeful about the future.

The President's views were outlined in an interview obtained by Arthur Krook, Times Washington correspondent.

Time and place of the interview, which touched on a wide range of topics, were not disclosed.

Krook, in a dispatch from Washington, said the President told him. He no longer has any hope that the Soviet Union will keep any agreements with the United States which it now would be good policy to seek.

When the Russians blocked East-West trade, he began to lose hope that the good peace prospects apparent at the founding of the United Nations would survive.

The last vestige of hope vanished when he learned that the Russians were hiding from their people the facts about the war assistance we had given them.

YOUNG WIDOWER SEEKS ESTATE

Waynesburg, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—The late Mrs. Gertrude Pochron, 75, told friends she discovered her college boy husband married her for her money, a witness testified in a will dispute before the Greene county court.

The testimony was given in a hearing on the suit of John Pochron, 27, to break his elderly wife's will and obtain her $40,000 to $50,000 estate.

Mrs. Thomas C. Wilson of Nemocoln quoted Mrs. Pochron as saying: "I wouldn't get married to him if I had it to do over again. I found out John married me for my money."

Mrs. Wilson added: "She told me John took over the master bedroom for himself and compelled her to move into a small bedroom."

A will dated October 25, 1948, divides Mrs. Pochron's estate between Wayneburg college and the Engineering Society of Western Pennsylvania. An earlier will dated July 2, 1947, leaves all of Mrs. Pochron's money to her young husband.

Pochron claims the college and the engineers brought undue pressure to bear on his wife when she made out the second will.
